4 issues with duplicate title tags

4 +4

About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate title tags only if they are exact matches. Duplicate <title> tags make it difficult for search engines to determine which of a website's pages is relevant for a specific search query, and which one should be prioritized in search results. Pages with duplicate titles have a lower chance of ranking well and are at risk of being banned. Moreover, identical <title> tags confuse users as to which webpage they should follow. How to fix: Provide a unique and concise title for each of your pages that contains your most important keywords. For information on how to create effective titles, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>

4 pages have duplicate meta descriptions

4 +4

About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate meta descriptions only if they are exact matches. A <meta description> tag is a short summary of a webpage's content that helps search engines understand what the page is about and can be shown to users in search results. Duplicate meta descriptions on different pages mean a lost opportunity to use more relevant keywords. Also, duplicate meta descriptions make it difficult for search engines and users to differentiate between different webpages. It is better to have no meta description at all than to have a duplicate one. How to fix: Provide a unique, relevant meta description for each of your webpages. For information on how to create effective meta descriptions, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>

237 issues with unminified JavaScript and CSS files

237 +237

About this issue: Minification is the process of removing unnecessary lines, white space and comments from the source code. Minifying JavaScript and CSS files makes their size smaller, thereby decreasing your page load time, providing a better user experience and improving your search engine rankings. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>. How to fix: Minify your JavaScript and CSS files. If your webpage uses CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to minify their files. If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.

160 images don't have alt attributes

160 +160

About this issue: Alt attributes within `` tags are used by search engines to understand the contents of your images. If you neglect alt attributes, you may miss the chance to get a better placement in search results because alt attributes allow you to rank in image search results. Not using alt attributes also negatively affects the experience of visually impaired users and those who have disabled images in their browsers. For more information, please see these articles: Using ALT attributes smartly: <https://webmasters.googleblog.com/2007/12/using-alt-attributes-smartly.html> and Google Image Publishing Guidelines: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/114016?hl=en>. How to fix: Specify a relevant alternative attribute inside an `` tag for each image on your website, e.g., "``".

17 pages have low text-HTML ratio

17 +17

About this issue: Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less. Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results. Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster. How to fix: Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

13 pages don't have an h1 heading

13 +13

About this issue: While less important than `<title>` tags, h1 headings still help define your page's topic for search engines and users. If an `<h1>` tag is empty or missing, search engines may place your page lower than they would otherwise. Besides, a lack of an `<h1>` tag breaks your page's heading hierarchy, which is not SEO friendly. How to fix: Provide a concise, relevant h1 heading for each of your page.

7 pages have too much text within the title tags

7 +7

About this issue: Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.

4 pages have a low word count

4 +4

About this issue: This issue is triggered if the number of words on your webpage is less than 200. The amount of text placed on your webpage is a quality signal to search engines. Search engines prefer to provide as much information to users as possible, so pages with longer content tend to be placed higher in search results, as opposed to those with lower word counts. For more information, please view this video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w3-obcXkyA4>. How to fix: Improve your on-page content and be sure to include more than 200 meaningful words.

3 pages don't have meta descriptions

3 +3

About this issue: Though meta descriptions don't have a direct influence on rankings, they are used by search engines to display your page's description in search results. A good description helps users know what your page is about and encourages them to click on it. If your page's meta description tag is missing, search engines will usually display its first sentence, which may be irrelevant and unappealing to users. For more information, please see these article: Create good titles and snippets in Search Results: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: In order to gain a higher click-through rate, you should ensure that all of your webpages have meta descriptions that contain relevant keywords.

72 URLs with a permanent redirect

About this issue: Although using permanent redirects (a 301 or 308 redirect) is appropriate in many situations (for example, when you move a website to a new domain, redirect users from a deleted page to a new one, or handle duplicate content issues), we recommend that you keep them to a reasonable minimum. Every time you redirect one of your website's pages, it decreases your crawl budget, which may run out before search engines can crawl the page you want to be indexed. Moreover, too many permanent redirects can be confusing to users. How to fix: Review all URLs with a permanent redirect. Change permanent redirects to a target page URL where possible.

72 +72

49 orphaned pages in Google Analytics

About this issue: A webpage that is not linked to internally is called an orphaned page. It is very important to check your website for such pages. If a page has valuable content but is not linked to by another page on your website, it can miss out on the opportunity to receive enough link juice. Orphaned pages that no longer serve their purpose confuse your users and, as a result, negatively affect their experience. We identify orphaned pages on your website by comparing the number of pages we crawled to the number of pages in your Google Analytics account. That's why to check your website for any orphaned pages, you need to connect your Google Analytics account. How to fix: Review all orphaned pages on your website and do either of the following: 1. If a page is no longer needed, remove it. 2. If a page has valuable content and brings traffic to your website, link to it from another page on your website. 3. If a page serves a specific need and requires no internal linking, leave it as is

49 +49

34 resources are formatted as page link

About this issue: We detected that some links to resources are formatted with `` HTML element. An `` tag with a href attribute is used to link to other webpages and must only contain a page URL. Search engines will crawl your site from page to page by following these HTML page links. When following a page link that contains a resource, for example, an image, the returned page will not contain anything except an image. This may confuse search engines and will indicate that your site has poor architecture. How to fix: Review your links. Replace `` links with tags necessary for specific resources. For example, if you'd like to add an image, use an `` tag with an alt attribute describing the contents of your image.

34 +34

27 pages take more than 1 second to become interactive

About this issue: We all know that slow page-load speed negatively affects user experience. However, if a user can start interacting with your webpage within 1 second, they are much less likely to click away from this page. That's why it is important to keep a close eye on the time it takes your most important webpages to become usable, known as the Average Document Interactive Time. For more information, please see Why Performance Matters: https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/why-performance-matters/. To evaluate your site performance, use the Site Performance report. How to fix: Make sure that users can start interacting with your most important pages as quickly as possible.

27 +27

18 issues with blocked external resources in robots.txt

18 +18

About this issue: Blocked external resources are resources (e.g., CSS, JavaScript, image files, etc.) that are hosted on an external website and blocked from crawling by a "Disallow" directive in an external robots.txt file. Disallowing these files may prevent search engines from accessing them and, as a result, properly rendering and indexing your webpages. This, in return, may lead to lower rankings. For more information, please see this article <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/6153277?hl=en>. How to fix: If blocked resources that are hosted on an external website have a strong impact on your website, contact the website owner and ask them to edit their robots.txt file. If blocked resources are not necessary for your site, simply ignore them.

18 pages have only one incoming internal link

18 +18

About this issue: Having very few incoming internal links means very few visits, or even none, and fewer chances of placing in search results. It is a good practice to add more incoming internal links to pages with useful content. That way, you can rest assured that users and search engines will never miss them. How to fix: Add more incoming internal links to pages with important content.

12 links on this page have no anchor text

12 +12

About this issue: This issue is triggered if a link (either external or internal) on your website has an empty or naked anchor (i.e., anchor that uses a raw URL), or anchor text only contains symbols. Although a missing anchor doesn't prevent users and crawlers from following a link, it makes it difficult to understand what the page you're linking to is about. Also, Google considers anchor text when indexing a page. So, a missing anchor represents a lost opportunity to optimize the performance of the linked-to page in search results. How to fix: Use anchor text for your links where it is necessary. The link text must give users and search engines at least a basic idea of what the target page is about. Also, use short but descriptive text. For more information, please see the "Use link wisely" section in Google's SEO Starter Guide https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/7451184?hl=en&ref_topic=9460495&authuser=0

10 pages are blocked from crawling

10 +10

About this issue: If a page cannot be accessed by search engines, it will never appear in search results. A page can be blocked from crawling either by a robots.txt file or a noindex meta tag. How to fix: Make sure that pages with valuable content are not blocked from crawling by mistake.

2 subdomains don't support HSTS

2 +2

About this issue: HTTP Strict Transport Security (HSTS) informs web browsers that they can communicate with servers only through HTTPS connections. So, to ensure that you don't serve unsecured content to your audience, we recommend that you implement HSTS support. How to fix: Use a server that supports HSTS.

1 page has more than one H1 tag

1 +1

About this issue: Although multiple <h1> tags are allowed in HTML5, we still do not recommend that you use more than one <h1> tag per page. Including multiple <h1> tags may confuse users. How to fix: Use multiple <h2>-<h6> tags instead of an <h1>.

Missing ALT attributes

i About this issue: Alt attributes within `` tags are used by search engines to understand the contents of your images. If you neglect alt attributes, you may miss the chance to get a better placement in search results because alt attributes allow you to rank in image search results. Not using alt attributes also negatively affects the experience of visually impaired users and those who have disabled images in their browsers. For more information, please see these articles: Using ALT attributes smartly: https://webmasters.googleblog.com/2007/12/using-alt-attributes-smartly.html and Google Image Publishing Guidelines: https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/114016?hl=en. How to fix: Specify a relevant alternative attribute inside an `` tag for each image on your website, e.g., ``.

Low text to HTML ratio

About this issue: Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less. Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results. Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster. How to fix: Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

Missing h1

 About this issue: While less important than <title> tags, h1 headings still help define your page's topic for search engines and users. If an <h1> tag is empty or missing, search engines may place your page lower than they would otherwise. Besides, a lack of an <h1> tag breaks your page's heading hierarchy, which is not SEO friendly. How to fix: Provide a concise, relevant h1 heading for each of your page.

Long title element

- i About this issue: Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.

Low word count

- i About this issue: This issue is triggered if the number of words on your webpage is less than 200. The amount of text placed on your webpage is a quality signal to search engines. Search engines prefer to provide as much information to users as possible, so pages with longer content tend to be placed higher in search results, as opposed to those with lower word counts. For more information, please view this video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w3-obcXkyA4>. How to fix: Improve your on-page content and be sure to include more than 200 meaningful words.

Missing meta description

- i About this issue: Though meta descriptions don't have a direct influence on rankings, they are used by search engines to display your page's description in search results. A good description helps users know what your page is about and encourages them to click on it. If your page's meta description tag is missing, search engines will usually display its first sentence, which may be irrelevant and unappealing to users. For more information, please see these article: Create good titles and snippets in Search Results: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: In order to gain a higher click-through rate, you should ensure that all of your webpages have meta descriptions that contain relevant keywords.

Permanent redirects

i About this issue: Although using permanent redirects (a 301 or 308 redirect) is appropriate in many situations (for example, when you move a website to a new domain, redirect users from a deleted page to a new one, or handle duplicate content issues), we recommend that you keep them to a reasonable minimum. Every time you redirect one of your website's pages, it decreases your crawl budget, which may run out before search engines can crawl the page you want to be indexed. Moreover, too many permanent redirects can be confusing to users. How to fix: Review all URLs with a permanent redirect. Change permanent redirects to a target page URL where possible.

Orphaned pages (Google Analytics)

i About this issue: A webpage that is not linked to internally is called an orphaned page. It is very important to check your website for such pages. If a page has valuable content but is not linked to by another page on your website, it can miss out on the opportunity to receive enough link juice. Orphaned pages that no longer serve their purpose confuse your users and, as a result, negatively affect their experience. We identify orphaned pages on your website by comparing the number of pages we crawled to the number of pages in your Google Analytics account. That's why to check your website for any orphaned pages, you need to connect your Google Analytics account. How to fix: Review all orphaned pages on your website and do either of the following: 1. If a page is no longer needed, remove it. 2. If a page has valuable content and brings traffic to your website, link to it from another page on your website. 3. If a page serves a specific need and requires no internal linking, leave it as is i About this issue: We detected that some links to resources are formatted with `` HTML element. An `` tag with a `href` attribute is used to link to other webpages and must only contain a page URL. Search engines will crawl your site from page to page by following these HTML page links. When following a page link that contains a resource, for example, an image, the returned page will not contain anything except an image. This may confuse search engines and will indicate that your site has poor architecture. How to fix: Review your links. Replace `` links with tags necessary for specific resources. For example, if you'd like to add an image, use an `` tag with an `alt` attribute describing the contents of your image.

Resources formatted as page links

Slow avg. document interactive time

i About this issue: We all know that slow page-load speed negatively affects user experience. However, if a user can start interacting with your webpage within 1 second, they are much less likely to click away from this page. That's why it is important to keep a close eye on the time it takes your most important webpages to become usable, known as the Average Document Interactive Time. For more information, please see Why Performance Matters: https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/why-performance-matters/. To evaluate your site performance, use the Site Performance report. How to fix: Make sure that users can start interacting with your most important pages as quickly as possible.

Blocked external resources in robots.txt

i About this issue: Blocked external resources are resources (e.g., CSS, JavaScript, image files, etc.) that are hosted on an external website and blocked from crawling by a "Disallow" directive in an external robots.txt file. Disallowing these files may prevent search engines from accessing them and, as a result, properly rendering and indexing your webpages. This, in return, may lead to lower rankings. For more information, please see this article <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/6153277?hl=en>. How to fix: If blocked resources that are hosted on an external website have a strong impact on your website, contact the website owner and ask them to edit their robots.txt file. If blocked resources are not necessary for your site, simply ignore them.

Pages with only one internal link

i About this issue: Having very few incoming internal links means very few visits, or even none, and fewer chances of placing in search results. It is a good practice to add more incoming internal links to pages with useful content. That way, you can rest assured that users and search engines will never miss them. How to fix: Add more incoming internal links to pages with important content.

Links with no anchor text

i About this issue: This issue is triggered if a link (either external or internal) on your website has an empty or naked anchor (i.e., anchor that uses a raw URL), or anchor text only contains symbols. Although a missing anchor doesn't prevent users and crawlers from following a link, it makes it difficult to understand what the page you're linking to is about. Also, Google considers anchor text when indexing a page. So, a missing anchor represents a lost opportunity to optimize the performance of the linked-to page in search results. How to fix: Use anchor text for your links where it is necessary. The link text must give users and search engines at least a basic idea of what the target page is about. Also, use short but descriptive text. For more information, please see the "Use link wisely" section in Google's SEO Starter Guide https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/7451184?hl=en&ref_topic=9460495&authuser=0
